

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Abbreviations	x
Introduction	1
1 In Search of Colonial Negatives: Martial Race Theories, Recruiting Handbooks and the Indian Army, c.1890–1945	11
2 ‘More Like Brothers and Fathers to the Sepoys’: Welfare, Discipline and Censorship in the Army	35
3 The Perils of ‘Oriental Correspondence’: Sipahis , Letters and Writing at the Crossroads	65
4 Throwing Snowballs in France: (Re-)Writing a Letter and (Re-)Appraising Islam, 1915–1918	99
5 Mutiny, Fabricating Court Testimony and Hiding in the Latrine: The 5th Light Infantry in Singapore	129
6 ‘Breaking the Chains with Which We Were Bound’: The Interrogation Chamber, the Indian National Army and the Negation of Military Identities, 1941–1947	157
Conclusion: Reading Rebels, Writing Ghosts	181
Notes	193
Appendix I	253
Appendix II	256
Appendix III	259
Glossary	261
Bibliography	266
Index	287