Prefacevii

Section I: Evolving Definitions—Changing Practices

1. Advances in Urban and Environmental Modeling:
Surveying the Terrain and Demarcating Frontiers3
Subhrajit Guhathakurta

2. New Developments in Urban Modeling: Simulation,
Representation, and Visualization..... 13
Michael Batty

3. Integrating Knowledge about Land Use and the Environment Through the Use of Multiple Models45
Lewis D. Hopkins

Section II: Ecologic Processes and Their Land Use Implications

4. How We Will Grow: Baseline Projections of California’s
Urban Footprint Through the Year 2100..... 55
John D. Landis and Michael Reilly

5. Linking Land-use Change with Ecosystem Processes:
A Hierarchical Patch Dynamic Model..... 99
Jianguo Wu, G. Darrel Jenerette, and John L. David

6. Adaptive Management of Complex Socio-environmental Systems in the Southwestern United States: Examples of Urbanizing Watersheds in Arizona and Texas 121
Laura R. Musacchio, William E. Grant, and Tarla Peterson

7. Dynamic Spatial Modeling of Urban Growth on the San Pedro Watershed..... 135
Gary Whyson, Tasila Banda-Sakala, and Betsy Conklin

Section III: Visualization, Representation, and Communication

8. Texture as a Property of Remote-sensed Images: Augmenting
Standard Spectral Classification Techniques Identification of Built Patches on the Upper San Pedro
Basin Landscape..... 145
Ward Brady and Ryan Miller

9. Balancing Measurement Precision with Cognitive Efforts in Weighting Method Selection 159
Wei-Ning Xiang

Section IV: Socioeconomic Implications of Transportation and Land Use

10. Modeling the Reciprocal Relationship between Metropolitan Roadway Expansion and Urban Land Development with Elementary Extensions to Environmental Consequences.....	173
Philip C. Emmi and Craig Forster
11. Reexamining the Geography of the Urban Labor Market: A Case Study of the San Francisco Bay Area	197
Qing Shen and Mizuki Kawabata
12. Modeling Opportunity: Employment Accessibility and the Economic Performance of Metropolitan Phoenix Neighborhoods	215
C Scott Smith
13. Maricopa Association of Governments (MAG) Review of the Maricopa Region and the MAG Socioeconomic Projection Process	249
Rita Walton, Mike Corlett, Cathy Arthur, and Anubhav Bagley
Contributor Biographies.....	267
