

Table of Contents

Introduction Michael Meimeth	7
Sustainability and self-referentiality in social and cultural systems Eric W. Rothenbuhler	11
Bridging the gap between the short run and the long run in sustainable development strategies Laurent Baechler	27
Towards a sustainable energy policy in Europe? On the discursive (dys)functions of sustainability Kristina Kurze	47
Sustainable Development as Part of Security Policy in the US and in Europe – Towards a Greener Military? René Eggenberger and Peter Schmidt	69
Planning for recovery: European reconstruction and the pre-history of sustainable development, 1945-60 Adam R. Seipp	95
The American Dilemma over Global Warming: the feud within Paul Christensen	105
Changing current course: the psychology of adopting or rejecting sustainable solutions Theory and research on pro-sustainability attitude and behaviour Gyöngyvér Gyene	117

Sustainable Development and power sharing in times of financial and economic crisis – some preliminary reflections and a summary of findings Hartmut Marhold	169
Conclusion John D. Robertson	177
Contributors	183
The publishers	185