

CONTENTS

List of figures xv
List of tables xviii
List of in practice case studies xix
Contributors xx
Preface xxvi

PART ONE International human resource development and learning 1

---

01 International human resource development 3

John P Wilson

Learning outcomes 3
Introduction 3
Defining education, training, development and learning 4
Human resource development 6
Human capital 15
Conclusion 18
Questions for reflection 18
Further information sources 19
References 19

02 Strategic human resource development 23

Thomas N Garavan and Ronan Carbery

Learning outcomes 23
Introduction 23
Defining strategic HRD 24
Understanding the contribution of SHRD to individual and business performance 25
Theoretical models of SHRD 27
Facilitating and enabling conditions for SHRD in organizations 35
Conclusion 42
Questions for reflection 42
Further information sources 42
References 43

03 What is learning? 45John P Wilson*

- Learning outcomes 45
- Introduction 45
- Defining learning 46
- Behaviourism 47
- Cognitivism 48
- Constructivism 54
- Social learning 59
- Humanistic learning 61
- Cognitive science and learning 63
- Conclusion 65
- Questions for reflection 65
- Further information sources 65
- References 65

PART TWO Organizational learning 69

---

04 Change management and organization development 71John P Wilson*

- Learning outcomes 71
- Introduction 72
- Competition and the nature of change 72
- Organization development 78
- Strategies for change and organization development 81
- Conclusion 89
- Questions for reflection 90
- Further information sources 90
- References 90

05 Knowledge management 93Eduardo Tomé*

- Learning outcomes 93
- Introduction 93
- Concepts 94
- Historical perspective 102
- The knowledge-management perspective on intangibles 103
- Conclusion 108
- Questions for reflection 109
- Further information sources 109
- References 109

PART THREE National and international learning, education, training and human resource development 113

---

06 National systems of education 115

John P Wilson

- Learning outcomes 115
- Introduction 116
- Education systems 116
- A brief history of UK education 116
- State intervention in early UK education 118
- Education for all 119
- Improving the US education system 124
- Improving the UK's education system: the race to the top 126
- The social benefits of education 128
- Equality of educational opportunity 129
- Conclusion 130
- Questions for reflection 130
- Further information sources 130
- References 131

07 UK vocational education and training 135

John P Wilson

- Learning outcomes 135
- Introduction 136
- A brief history of UK vocational education and training 136
- The UK vocational education and training system 138
- HRD roles 151
- Conclusion 152
- Questions for reflection 153
- Further information sources 153
- References 153

08 European vocational education and training 155

Martin Mulder

- Learning outcomes 155
- Introduction 155
- VET in Europe – CVT – HRD – LLL: fading boundaries 156
- European VET and national systems of education: wide diversity 157
- Conclusion 170
- Questions for reflection 171
- Further information sources 171
- References 173

- 09 National human resource development strategies: comparing Brazil, Russia, India and China 177
Alexandre Ardichvili, Elena K Zavyalova and Vera N Minina
- Learning outcomes 177
 Introduction 178
 National human resource development 179
 NHRD in Brazil 179
 NHRD in Russia 182
 NHRD in India 184
 NHRD in China 186
 NHRD in BRICs: comparative analysis 189
 Conclusion 190
 Questions for reflection 191
 Further information sources 191
 References 191
- 10 International development: policy learning as an approach to VET reform in transition and development countries 195
Sören Nielsen and Madlen Serban
- Learning outcomes 195
 Introduction 196
 The mission and role of the European Training Foundation 197
 From policy lending and borrowing towards policy learning 198
 VET policy challenges for countries in transition 200
 What can HRD policies learn from learning theories? 201
 Policy learning: applying the changing learning paradigm for facilitation of policy advice on VET reform in transition countries 203
 Policy learning in action: Phase I 2007–08: examples from Kyrgyzstan, Morocco and Turkey 205
 Policy learning in action: Phase II 2010 onwards: The Torino Process and evidence-informed policy development 208
 Conclusion 209
 Questions for reflection 211
 Notes 211
 Further information sources 212
 References 212
- 11 Capacity development and human resource development 215
Dalia Al-Zendi and John P Wilson
- Learning outcomes 215
 Introduction 215
 The evolution of capacity building and capacity development 216

Defining capacity building and capacity development	217
Capacity development for all nations	219
Development as freedom	220
The capacity development process	221
Capacity building/capacity development and human resource development	222
United Nations Development Programme	224
The United Nations' Human Development Index	225
Development for well-being	226
The challenges facing capacity development	227
Development and sustainability	228
Capacity development results framework	229
Conclusion	233
Questions for reflection	237
Further information sources	237
References	237

PART FOUR The training cycle 241

---

PART FOUR A Identification of learning needs 241

---

12

The identification of learning needs 243

Richard Palmer, Allan Claudius Queiroz Barbosa, Leandro Pinheiro Cintra, Júnia Marçal Rodrigues and Juliana Barbosa e Oliveira

Learning outcomes	243
Introduction	243
Undertaking a learning needs analysis	244
Needs at the organizational level	244
Needs at the departmental level	248
Needs at occupational levels	251
Needs at the individual level	252
Defining the training priorities	254
Conclusion	255
Questions for reflection	262
Further information sources	262
References	263

PART FOUR B Design 265

---

13 Designing learning events 267David Simmonds*

- Learning outcomes 267
- Introduction 267
- Objectives 271
- Learners 277
- Content 280
- Location 283
- Time 284
- Methods 288
- Resources 289
- Conclusion 293
- Questions for reflection 293
- References 293

14 Working in multicultural and multilingual environments:
HRD professionals as learning and change agents in the global workplace 297Maria Cseh and Beatriz Coningham*

- Learning outcomes 297
- Introduction 298
- What is a global workplace? 298
- What is the role of HRD professionals in the global workplace? 300
- How should the role of HRD professionals be enacted in the global workplace? 301
- What are the HRD approaches to learning and change in the global workplace? 304
- Conclusion 307
- Questions for reflection 308
- Further information sources 308
- References 308

PART FOUR C Delivery 311

---

15 Delivering training 313John Kirkham and Jacqueline Pattison*

- Learning outcomes 313
- Introduction 313
- Where to begin 314

Setting the learning environment	315
Working with learning objectives and session plans	318
Learning activities	319
Delivery styles	322
Feedback	323
Coaching during the workshop	324
Team building in the classroom	324
Motivation to learn	325
Principles of self-development	326
'Joint learning' for management, staff and staff representatives	327
Legislation and the learning environment	327
Dealing with difficult scenarios	328
Conclusion	329
Questions for reflection	330
Further information sources	330
References	330

16 Informal, non-formal and work-based methods of learning 331

Jacqueline Pattison, John Kirkham and Mariana Gabriela Hudrea

Learning outcomes	331
Introduction	332
Is investment in formal learning worthwhile?	332
Formal, informal and non-formal learning	333
Lifelong learning and lifewide learning	334
A-Z of learning, training and development methods	335
Conclusion	339
Questions for reflection	339
Further information sources	340
References	340

17 Coaching and mentoring 341

Stephanie T Sturges

Learning outcomes	341
Introduction	341
Coaching and mentoring	342
Types of coaching and mentoring	344
Qualities and skills of coaching and mentoring	345
Models of coaching	347
Developmental or transformational coaching and mentoring	355
Conclusion	358
Questions for reflection	358
Further information sources	358
References	358

PART FOUR D Evaluation 361

---

18 Assessment and evaluation 363

Tanuja Agarwala

Learning outcomes 363

Introduction 363

Definition 364

Significance 364

Objectives 366

Evaluation approaches 367

Choosing criterion measures 368

Kirkpatrick's model of training evaluation (1959) 368

Training evaluation: monetary benefits 374

Experimental designs 377

E-training evaluation 377

Conclusion 380

Questions for reflection 380

References 380

PART FIVE Managing HRD 385

---

19 Leadership and management development 387

Ronan Carbery and Thomas N Garavan

Learning outcomes 387

Introduction 387

Management and leadership development: the same or different? 388

The context of management and leadership development 390

Management and leadership competency models 392

Selecting management and leadership development strategies 399

Evaluating management and leadership development 402

Conclusion 403

Questions for reflection 403

Further information sources 404

References 404

20 Managing human resource development functions and services 407

Barney Erasmus and Pieter Loedolff

Learning outcomes 407

Introduction and learning objectives 407

The importance of HRD 408

The place and role of the HRD function in the structure of the organization	408
Managing the HRD function	412
Coordinating HRD functions and services in the organization	416
Training and development budgets and cost analysis	418
Conclusion	422
Questions for reflection	423
References	428

21 HRD practice and research: investigating business issues through applied social science research 429

K Peter Kuchinke

Learning outcomes	429
Introduction	430
Social science research, management and human resource development	432
Approaches to applied research	434
Applied research, values and interests	439
Conclusion: linking research to organization change, innovation and learning	441
Questions for reflection	442
References	442

22 HRD and consultancy 445

Kiran Trehan and Clare Rigg

Learning outcomes	445
Introduction	445
HRD as consultancy	446
Consultancy models	448
Consulting techniques	452
Problems and pitfalls in HRD consultancy	456
Conclusion	462
Questions for reflection	462
References	462

23 Learning spaces that change people and organizations 465

Colin Beard and Ilfryn Price

Learning outcomes	465
Introduction	465
Schools, colleges, universities and workspaces	466
So what do we know about learning?	468
A simple model of complexity	470

Mirror image? Learning environments reflect learning theory complexity	471
Learning and working: a convergent evolution	473
Thinking spaces for learning, and working	475
Innovation at work: spatial dynamics and conversations for innovation and learning	477
Conclusion	477
Questions for reflection	478
Further information sources	478
References	478

24 HRD and business ethics 481

Alexandre Ardichvili and Douglas Jondle

Learning outcomes	481
Introduction	481
The increasing role of ethics training	482
Ethical business cultures and organization change	483
HRD activities in support of ethical business cultures	488
Conclusion	489
References	493

Index 495

To download the tutor resources throughout this book, go to <http://www.koganpage.com/editions/international-human-resource-development/9780749461065>