

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	7
1. Introduction: Harnessing the Visible	9
2. A Brief History of Irritation	17
3. Melodrama: A Vernacular Modernism	27
4. Cinema and the Senses Refigured	43
5. Michael Haneke, or: Irritated Judgment as the Ethical Condition sine qua non	59
6. Lynchian Melodrama: From Attractions to Distractions, and Back Home Again	107
7. Lars von Trier and Woman's Films: Misogyny or Feminism?	141
8. Conclusion: Irritation of Life – an optimistic cine-aesthetic ethics	173
Bibliography	189
Filmography	199
Picture Credits	203
Register	205