

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	13
Zusammenfassung	15
Abstract	17
Chapter 1
Comparative Study of Intragenerational Mobility in the United States, Norway, and West Germany	19
1.1 Introduction	19
1.2 Cross-National Research on Mobility Patterns	19
1.3 Approach of This Study	23
1.4 Outline of the Study	27
PART ONE: OPPORTUNITIES	29
Chapter 2
Economy and Social Structure	31
2.1 Introduction	31
2.2 Industrial Distribution of Employment	31
2.3 Economic Growth and Unemployment Rate	36
2.4 Income Distribution	40
Chapter 3
The Organization of Formal and Vocational Training	45
3.1 Introduction	45
3.2 Standardization and Stratification of Primary and Secondary Education	46
3.3 Stratification and Standardization of Higher Education	54
3.4 Standardization and Stratification of Vocational Training	57
3.5 Education and Labor-Market Outcomes: A Framework	60
3.6 Labor-Market Transition From Primary and Secondary Schooling	61
3.7 Labor-Market Transition From Higher Education	63

3.8 Transition From Vocational Training	65
3.9 Conclusion	67
PART TWO: MEASUREMENT.....	69
Chapter 4
Data and Methods	71
4.1 Introduction	71
4.2 The Three Life History Studies	71
4.3 Comparison of the Three Data Sets	73
4.4 Design of the Empirical Analyses	76
4.5 Methods	77
Chapter 5
Operationalization and Measurement of Variables	81
5.1 Introduction	81
5.2 JobSpells	82
5.3 Labor-Market Entry, Transition From School to Work, and Labor-Force Experience	83
5.4 Educational Attainment and Vocational Training	84
5.5 Occupational Prestige (SAS)	87
5.6 Macroeconomic Indicators	94
5.7 Conclusion	98
PART THREE: ANALYSES.....	99
Chapter 6
Start: The Transition From School to Work	103
6.1 Introduction	103
6.2 Career Entry and Age Grading at Career Entry	103
6.3 Labor-Force Experience in the Transition Period	106
6.4 Effects of Education on Career Placement and Career Trajectory.	115
6.5 Conclusion	122
Chapter 7
Move: Job Mobility Dynamics	124
7.1 Introduction	124
7.2 Effects of Microstructural and Macrostructural Determinants on Job Mobility	125
7.3 Nation Effects on the Rate of Job Mobility	129
7.4 Job Mobility Dynamics in the United States, Norway, and West Germany	130
7.5 International Comparison of Job Mobility Dynamics	138
7.6 Conclusion	143

Chapter 8
Gain: The Dynamics of Status Attainment Over the Work Life.	144
8.1 Introduction	144
8.2 Effects of Microstructural and Macrostructural Determinants on Upward Occupational Mobility	146
8.3 Nation Effects on the Rate of Upward Occupational Mobility.	149
8.4 Gain in Occupational Prestige Over the Work Life in the United States, Norway, and West Germany	150
8.5 International Comparison of Upward Occupational Mobility.	156
8.6 Conclusion	158
Chapter 9
Conclusion	160
References	162

List of Figures

Figure 2.1	Percentage of Males Employed in the Primary Sector. United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1940-1970.	33
Figure 2.2	Percentage of Males Employed in the Secondary Sector. United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1940-1970.	34
Figure 2.3	Percentage of Males Employed in the Tertiary Sector. United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1940-1970.	35
Figure 2.4	Change in GNP in the United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1930-1980.	37
Figure 2.5	Unemployment Rates in the United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1930-1980.	39
Figure 2.6	Structure of Inequality in the United States, Norway, and West Germany. Distribution of Personal Income Before Tax (Fractile Shares).	43
Figure 3.1	The Structure of Primary and Secondary-School Systems in the United States, Norway, and West Germany.	50
Figure 3.2	Secondary-School Enrollment. United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1925-1975.	52
Figure 3.3	Stratification and Standardization of Primary and Secondary Education.	54
Figure 3.4	University Enrollment. United States, Norway, and West Germany, 1925-1975.	55
Figure 3.5	Stratification and Standardization of Higher Education.	57
Figure 3.6	Stratification and Standardization of Vocational Training Structures.	59
Figure 3.7	Effects of Standardization and Stratified Educational Systems on the Propensity for Lateral and Vertical Career Mobility.	61
Figure 4.1	The Design of the Three Life History Studies	72
Figure 4.2	A Hypothetical Work History With Six Observed Job Spells and Two Upward Job Spells.	79
Figure 5.1	Selected Occupations by ISCO and Treiman Scores. Maximal Di- stance Between Census-Based SAS Scores by Nation.	90
Figure 5.2	Treiman Scores and SAS Scores by Census Years and Nation. United States.	91
Figure 5.3	Treiman Scores and SAS Scores by Census Years and Nation. Norway.	92

Figure 5.4	Treiman Scores and SAS Scores by Census Years and Nation. West Germany.	93
Figure 5.5	Summary of Variables.	97
Figure 6.1	Average Number of Job Spells in the Total Work History. Cohort 1930.	99
Figure 6.2	Average Number of Job Spells in the Career History. Cohort 1930.	100
Figure 6.3	Average Number of Upward Job Spells in the Career History. Cohort 1930.	101
Figure 6.4	Age Grading at Time of Last Leaving Full-Time Education.	105
Figure 6.5	Age Grading at "Career Start".	106
Figure 6.6	The Sequence of the Stages School, Transition, and Trajectory. United States, Blacks and Whites.	107
Figure 6.7	Percentage of Workers With Jobs in Transition Time. Cohort 1930.	109
Figure 6.8	Labor-Force Experience in Transition and Trajectory. Cohort 1930.	110